MELBOURNE LAW MASTERS 2016

A CLASS ABOVE

Dispute Resolution

The expanding commercial focus in this specialty will encourage a wider understanding and use of dispute resolution in the course of business. This focus includes a new procedural emphasis in the teaching of commercial arbitration practice and the use of mediation in commerce, and firmly establishes the Melbourne Law Masters as leading the way in this field.

Advanced skills in dispute resolution are essential in contemporary legal practice. The specialisation in this field works from fundamental principles and provides students with invaluable practical know-how in effectively managing and resolving disputes. It is highly relevant not only to legal practitioners, but also to others working in the design, reform and practice of dispute resolution. Experts from the judiciary, profession and academia lead a wide range of subjects spanning litigation, evidence, procedure, mediation, arbitration and negotiation, with application in both national and international contexts.

Courses include:

- Master of Laws (LLM)
- Master of Commercial Law
- Master of Public and International Law
- Graduate Diploma in Legal Studies
- Graduate Diploma in Dispute Resolution

The Melbourne Law Masters is a world-class program available to law and non-law graduates that deepens knowledge, sharpens practical insights and offers international perspectives in specialised legal fields. Taught by more than 200 leading experts the program offers an extraordinary range of subjects at the cutting edge of law, legal thinking and practice. The program offers more than 165 subjects across 23 specialist legal areas.
